Drive like the pros, and fuel your car with Ethanol blend fuels. Beginning in 2007, the entire Indy Car Series will be completely fueled by ethanol.

A.J. Foyt's racing team has noticed a dramatic improvement in the way his car performs since making the switch to ethanol. This is because ethanol burns much cooler than regular gasoline, so there is much less wear and tear on your engine. Most ethanol blends can be used in any vehicle, so look for ethanol fuel at a gas station near you.
